A. INTRODUCTION

The managerial/confidential (M/C) group, as defined by the Taylor Law, includes New York State employees with a variety of backgrounds and expertise, encompassing a broad range of occupations. In this group are policy-making managers, middle managers, and specialists in fields as diverse as education, law, computer science, medicine, administrative support, and law enforcement. While the Taylor Law authorizes collective negotiations for most of New York State's public employees, it does not permit M/C employees to organize or to bargain collectively on terms and conditions of employment due to the nature of the work their positions require, as defined by that law.

M/C employees may be designated "managerial" if they (1) formulate policy, (2) assist the employer directly in preparing for or conducting collective negotiations, or (3) play a major role (involving independent judgment) in administering labor agreements. Employees may be designated "confidential" if they assist and act in a confidential capacity to employees designated managerial by virtue of (2) and (3) above.

Throughout this handbook, the term "employee" is used to refer specifically to M/C employees in the classified service of the Executive Branch of New York State government. While much of the information here applies equally to M/Cs in other categories (e.g., the unclassified service), there may be exceptions or differences, and such employees should check with their personnel office for applicability.

This handbook provides an overview of programs and benefits, as well as information on other policies and practices applicable to M/C employees. (See Appendix A, "Moving from a Bargaining Unit into the M/C Group.") It is not intended to be a comprehensive administrative manual, nor is it designed to replace individual benefit plan summaries or specific program announcements or policy memoranda. Rather, the handbook should serve as a useful guide to the benefits and programs available to you and the policies that affect you as an M/C employee. Since the handbook cannot realistically be the one source of information for all programs and policies, references are made to other sources offering more detail on specific programs. You will note that we frequently refer you to your agency or facility personnel office. This is because Personnel/Human Resources/Employee Relations is the best place to get answers to your specific questions.

B. APPOINTMENT AND PROMOTION

1. Appointment

Most management/confidential positions are in the classified service, which is composed of four "jurisdictional" classes – competitive, non-competitive, exempt, and labor. Within the classified service, most positions are in the competitive class. Competitive class positions may be filled permanently, provisionally, or temporarily.

Permanent appointments are made from eligible lists resulting from examinations, either promotion or open-competitive. Permanent appointments may also be made from preferred lists or by transfer, reinstatement, training advance, or Civil Service Commission action. Generally, preferred lists and other reemployment or pre-layoff lists must be used before other methods of appointment. Permanent non-probationary status provides a form of tenure – protection against removal except for cause – including rights in layoff and reemployment situations, and the opportunity to compete for and transfer to other competitive positions.

Provisional appointments may be made to competitive class positions when there are no preferred list or other reemployment or pre-layoff list eligibles, or when fewer than three persons on the eligible lists are available for appointment. Provisional appointees must meet the minimum qualifications for the position. Provisional appointments are subject to termination when eligible lists are established.

Temporary appointments may also be made to competitive class positions in some instances. Temporary appointees must meet minimum qualifications. Temporary appointments may be subject to termination based on the availability of personnel on eligible and preferred lists.

Non-competitive class positions may be filled by the appointing authority with individuals who meet the minimum qualifications that are established by the Department of Civil Service. These are positions for which it is practicable to examine applicants as to their qualifications, but not practicable to conduct examinations on a competitive basis. Non-competitive appointees have some tenure, layoff, and preferred list rights, although these generally are more limited than those accorded to competitive class positions. Appointments to non-competitive class positions specifically designated in Appendix 2 of the "Rules for the Classified Service" (Chapter 1 of Title 4 of the Official Compilation of Codes, Rules and Regulations of the State of New York) as "confidential or policy influencing" do not carry such rights.

Exempt class positions have no minimum qualifications and are positions for which neither competitive nor non-competitive examinations are found to be practicable. In practice, most exempt appointments are made by agency heads with the approval of the Governor's Office. Exempt class employees have no tenure protection unless they are veterans who meet certain criteria. They do not have layoff protection or preferred list opportunity.

Labor class positions, which involve unskilled labor, are generally filled by the appointing authority. Some employees in this class have limited tenure, layoff, and reemployment protection.

2. Probationary Period

The rules and regulations of the Department of Civil Service (Title 4 of the Official Compilation of Codes, Rules and Regulations of the State of New York) require a basic probationary term of 26 to 52 weeks for all competitive appointments and for original, permanent appointments in the non-competitive, exempt, and labor classes. For those promoted or transferred, probation is from 8 to 26 weeks for M/C positions in grades 13 and below, and from 12 to 52 weeks for M/C positions in grades 14 and above. The probationary term for a trainee coincides with the term of training services, regardless of length.

If an employee is promoted and does not complete the required probationary period in the new position, he or she may elect to return to the title held prior to the promotion.

3. Promotion

Vacant competitive class positions are filled by promotion of employees based upon performance on competitive examinations. Non-competitive class employees do not formally compete for promotion to non-competitive positions, although certain of these positions are filled from within State service. In these instances, appointment is based upon review of the employee's qualifications and experience. Minimum qualifications established for the position must be satisfied. There are also provisions to afford non-competitive class employees the same opportunities to take promotion examinations as exist in the competitive class under certain conditions. Promotion to positions in the exempt class are effected through supervisory evaluations and selection.

4. Disciplinary Procedure

Section 75 of the Civil Service Law outlines the rights of an M/C employee involved in a disciplinary action. Under this section, an employee who is subject to a disciplinary action is entitled to representation rights and to a hearing on stated charges before an impartial hearing officer. The burden of proving employee incompetence or misconduct lies with the official or supervisor who filed the written charges.

The following categories of M/C employees are covered under Section 75:

- Employees holding permanent appointments in the competitive class.
- Eligible veterans as defined in Section 85 of the Civil Service Law.
- Exempt volunteer firefighters as defined in the General Municipal Law.
- Employees who have completed five continuous years of service in the non-competitive class since last entry into State service and who do not hold positions designated as confidential or requiring the performance of functions that influence policy.

C. COMPENSATION

1. Annual Salary

Salaries for the majority of M/C employees are determined in accordance with a statutory salary schedule, which is formulated by the Office of Employee Relations and the Division of the Budget, recommended by the Governor, and approved by the Legislature. The M/C salary schedule establishes a hiring rate and job rate (top level of regular pay for the position) for each salary grade other than M-8, which has no job rate. Salaries for commissioners and those in other statutory (OS) positions are set by law. Generally, an employee moves from the hiring rate to the job rate over a six-year period based on satisfactory performance.

Positions in the competitive, non-competitive, and labor classes are usually assigned to statutory salary grades. Positions in the exempt class are compensated at rates that are nonstatutory (NS), or not fixed by law. The salaries of exempt class employees, however, are frequently equated to statutory grade positions with comparable responsibilities.

2. Performance Evaluation and Merit Compensation

The Performance Evaluation and Merit Compensation Program for M/C employees is a two-part program consisting of a system for evaluating employee performance and a system for payment of added compensation. The performance evaluation system provides a means for improving agency operations and employee performance through the development of a mutual understanding of performance objectives between the employee and supervisor. The system also serves to provide M/C employees with valuable feedback on their performance strengths and areas needing improvement, as well as identifying where additional training or developmental work is indicated.

Although each agency has been given the flexibility to design an appraisal mechanism suited to its particular needs, the evaluation process is subject to broad Statewide guidelines. The process requires that the employee be evaluated in writing at least annually and that the supervisor meet with the employee to discuss the evaluation. The standard evaluation period runs from April 1 through March 31.

The merit compensation system is designed to distribute specific performance advance, longevity, and merit award payments to eligible full-time and part-time annual salaried employees. An employee whose salary is below the job rate for his or her salary grade is eligible to receive a performance advance each year in the amount of one sixth of the salary range for the grade. Performance advances are generally effective after the rating period has ended unless the agency has taken steps to withhold it for performance reasons.

A performance advance raises the employee's salary until the job rate is reached. Longevity payments, which are increases to base salary, are available to employees in grades 17 and below whose salaries have been at or above the job rate for their salary grade for five or more years.

3. Promotional Increase

An employee who is promoted into a competitive position receives either the hiring rate for the new position or a percentage increase based on basic annual salary, whichever is greater. In salary grades M/C 3 to M/C 23, the percentage increase consists of 1.5 percent plus an additional 1.5 percent for each grade advanced. Employees in salary grades M-1 to M-8 receive a 1.5 percent increase plus a three percent increase for each grade advanced.

4. Overtime Compensation

Although it is the policy of New York State to hold overtime to a minimum, employees may occasionally be required to work beyond the basic workweek. Only certain positions are eligible for overtime pay, as determined by the Division of the Budget. In general, employees eligible for overtime pay who work in excess of the 37½ hour basic workweek but not more than 40 hours are entitled to compensatory time on a straight-time basis. Overtime eligible employees who work in excess of 40 hours earn either overtime pay or compensatory time at the rate of time and one-half. Employees who choose compensatory time instead of overtime pay may accrue up to 240 hours of compensatory time for hours worked in excess of 40 per week. After employees have accrued the maximum hours, they must be compensated for all additional overtime in cash.

Employees are generally expected to travel on their own time. However, certain travel time or service while traveling may be compensable if undertaken for State business, authorized in advance, and spent as part of the employee's principal work activity (e.g., going from job site to job site). Travel between the employee's residence and official work station or any transportation terminal is not included in the calculation of overtime. Questions about eligibility for overtime compensation should be directed to the employee's personnel office.

5. Overtime Meal Allowance

An employee who works at least three hours beyond the normal daily schedule or at least six hours overtime on a day off, is eligible for reimbursement of one meal at $6.00. Any employee who is required to work at least nine hours overtime on a day off or six or more hours beyond the normal daily schedule is allowed two overtime meal allowances. Payment for these allowances is made through the payroll process; employees should contact their personnel office for details.

6. Uniform Allowance

The Office of Employee Relations provides an annual uniform cleaning and maintenance allowance to M/C employees in selected titles who are required to wear uniforms as part of their jobs. Payment is made annually by the Office of the State Comptroller to all eligible full-time, annual salaried employees and to those on leave at half pay. Employees on leave without pay receive the allowance upon return to the payroll.

7. Geographic Area Pay Differential

The Director of Classification and Compensation of the Department of Civil Service may authorize additional pay for employees in the same or related occupations to facilitate their recruitment and retention in those areas where salaries and employment practices of other employers adversely affect the ability of the State to recruit and retain a competent work force. This action is subject to approval by the Director of the Budget. The pay differential is considered an addition to, not part of, the employee's basic annual salary.

8. Shift Pay Differential

The Director of Classification and Compensation may authorize additional pay for employees who work other than normal day shifts in specific occupations, under specified conditions. The differentials are subject to approval by the Director of the Budget and are an addition to, not part of, an employee's basic annual salary.

9. Other Pay Differentials

Depending on location, job title, and requirements, an employee may be entitled to increased minimum hiring rates (based on the advanced qualifications of prospective appointees or recruitment difficulties), occupational pay (to appropriately compensate employees in relation to their immediate occupational subordinates), inconvenience pay (for employees required to work four or more hours between 6:00 p.m. and 6:00 a.m. in a regular tour of duty), location pay (for employees whose principal place of employment or official station is in the City of New York or the counties of Dutchess, Nassau, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Suffolk, or Westchester), or hazardous duty pay (for employees exposed to hazardous working conditions in certain agencies, facilities, and locations under specified conditions for which they are not otherwise compensated). These differentials are authorized by the Director of Classification and Compensation and are subject to approval by the Director of the Budget. Occupational pay, inconvenience pay, location pay, and hazardous duty pay are considered additions to, not part of, an employee's basic annual salary.

10. Holiday Compensation

Employees who are required to work during their regularly scheduled work hours on a State holiday will receive additional compensation unless the holiday falls on their regularly scheduled day off (pass day). Employees in salary grades M/C 22 and below who work on State holidays receive, at their option, either holiday pay (straight time) or holiday leave for the time worked on those days. To receive holiday leave for holiday service, employees may file waivers of holiday pay with their agency personnel offices. Waivers may be revoked or filed annually between April 1 and May 15 or, for new employees, at the time of appointment. Employees in grades M/C 23 and above do not have this option. They are ineligible for holiday pay, but instead receive holiday leave corresponding to the number of hours worked on the holiday. Geographic, occupational, location, inconvenience, and shift pay are part of the holiday pay computation where appropriate.

When a holiday falls on a regularly scheduled day off, employees are entitled to holiday leave unless the State designated another day off in its place. Employees who are eligible for overtime and who are scheduled or directed to work on a holiday that falls on a regular day off may receive overtime compensation in addition to holiday pay or holiday leave. Employees who are ineligible for overtime receive only the applicable holiday leave or holiday pay for working on a holiday that falls on a regular day off.

An employee who has not been scheduled to work, but is called in to work during his or her regularly scheduled hours of work on a State holiday that is a day other than the employee's regular day off, is guaranteed at least one-half day's holiday pay or holiday leave, as appropriate, regardless of the actual number of hours worked. If the employee works more than one-half day, compensation equals the number of hours worked.

11. Unemployment Insurance

State employees are covered by the provisions of New York State Unemployment Insurance Law. Employees who cease working for New York State through no fault of their own may be eligible to receive weekly cash benefits while they look for new jobs. More information is available from agency personnel offices or local unemployment insurance offices.

D. REIMBURSEMENTS

1. Travel Reimbursement

M/C employees whose duties require them to be in travel status will be reimbursed according to guidelines established by the Office of the State Comptroller. (See Office of the State Comptroller Travel Manual, available at www.osc.state.ny.us/agencies/travel/manual.pdf.)

Employees should contact their agency personnel or finance offices for further information on travel reimbursement and for specific reimbursement rate schedules.

2. Moving Expense Reimbursement

An employee who is promoted, transferred, or reassigned for the convenience of the State, or a new employee recruited by the State for a position in which it has been determined that a shortage of qualified candidates exists, may be reimbursed for individual and family basic moving expenses up to an established maximum (Under Section 202 of the State Finance Law and regulation thereunder). An employee is not eligible, however, for related expenses such as selling or buying a house or renting temporary quarters. Reimbursement shall not be granted if the distance between the employee's old and new place of employment, or between the new place of employment and place of residence at the time of employment, is less than 35 miles. Employees will also be ineligible for reimbursement if the transfer or reassignment is the result of demotion, is for educational or training purposes, or is at the request of the employee and not expressly for the convenience of the State.

Reimbursement is made according to regulations issued by the Division of the Budget as Part 154 of Title 9 of the Official Compilation of Codes, Rules and Regulations of the State of New York.

E. ATTENDANCE AND LEAVE BENEFITS

Attendance and leave policies for M/C employees are specified in the "Attendance Rules for Employees in New York State Departments and Institutions" (Parts 27 through 33 of Title 4 of the Official Compilation of Codes, Rules and Regulations of the State of New York) and the accompanying manual to these rules, as administered by the Department of Civil Service. The following paragraphs are brief synopses of the detailed rules and regulations. Please note that these discussions apply only to full-time, annual salaried employees in the classified State service.

1. Basic Workweek

The basic workweek for full-time annual salaried employees is 40 hours or an approved equivalent work schedule. Alternative work schedules, including staggered hours, flextime, and compressed schedules, are available in a number of agencies. A 1978 executive order (Executive Order No. 68) encourages agencies to consider implementation of such schedules. An appointing authority may reduce the basic workweek, with approval of the Division of the Budget, to 37 ½ hours. This does not preclude an employee from being directed to work additional hours, whether or not eligible for overtime pay.

2. Holidays

The official holidays for New York State employees are:

New Year's Day	Labor Day
Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Day	Columbus Day
Lincoln's Birthday	Election Day
Washington's Birthday	Veterans' Day
Memorial Day	Thanksgiving Day
Independence Day	Christmas Day
Juneteenth

Each fiscal year, the State can designate up to two of these days as floating holidays. State offices remain open on such floating holidays and employees who are eligible to observe holidays will, on each of these dates, receive credit for one day of holiday leave. In recent years, Lincoln's Birthday and Election Day have been so designated.

3. Vacation

- During the First Through Seventh Years of Service

A new full-time, annual-salaried employee is credited with 6 ½ days of vacation after 13 biweekly pay periods with no break in service of more than one year. After that, the employee accumulates vacation at the rate of one-half day per pay period during each year of service through the first seven years. An M/C employee earns bonus vacation days on his or her vacation anniversary date. The number of bonus days earned equals the employee's completed years of continuous service.

- More Than Seven Years of Service

Following completion of seven years of service, an M/C employee earns 20 days of vacation for each 26 pay periods. Employees with 20 or more years of continuous service earn additional vacation credits upon completion of each additional 12 months of service, as follows:

Completed Years	Additional Vacation Days
25 - 29	2
30 - 34	4
35 or more	5

Leave of Absence/Resignation

A leave of absence without pay or resignation followed by reinstatement or reemployment in State service within one year does not constitute an interruption of continuous State service for the purpose of determining vacation credits. Unpaid leave for more than six months, however, will not be counted in determining eligibility for additional vacation credits.

Accrued Vacation Payment

In the event of death, retirement, separation from service, or movement to an unclassified position, an employee (or the employee's estate) is paid in cash for up to 30 days of accrued vacation. Employees who leave State service as a result of disciplinary action or resign following disciplinary charges are not eligible for payment. Agencies may require that employees who voluntarily resign provide two weeks notice prior to the last day of work to be eligible for this payment.

Credit Accumulation

On January 1st of each calendar year, an employee's accrued vacation may not exceed 40 days, although total vacation accruals may exceed this limit at other times during the year. An employee who accumulates more than 40 days of vacation credits in a calendar year must use the amount over 40 days or lose it on the last day of the calendar year.

4. Sick Leave

Earning and Accrual

Sick leave is earned and accumulated by two different methods for M/C employees — one method for employees who are enrolled in the M/C Income Protection Plan (IPP), and another method for those not enrolled in the IPP. (See the Disability Coverage section of this handbook for a discussion of disability benefits under the IPP.)

For Non-IPP Participants:

Employees not enrolled in the M/C Income Protection Plan earn sick leave at the rate of one-half day each biweekly pay period for a total of 13 days per year. Sick leave may be accumulated to a maximum of 200 days. Employees who do not have enough credits to cover an absence due to illness may be advanced up to five days of sick leave (extended sick leave) for personal illness. These days must be repaid as soon as possible following a return to work. Permanent non-probationary employees who have at least one year of State service are eligible for sick leave at half pay after exhausting all leave credits. For each completed six months of State service, the employee may be eligible for one biweekly payroll check at half pay.

For IPP Participants:

Employees enrolled in the M/C Income Protection Plan are credited with four days of sick leave each six months for a total of eight days per year. Sick leave may be accumulated to a maximum of 200 days. IPP participants are not eligible for sick leave at half pay or extended sick leave since insured short-term and long-term income protection is provided through the IPP.

Use of Sick Leave

An employee may use sick leave for personal illness and visits to a doctor or dentist or other recognized medical practitioner. Additionally, up to 15 days per year may be used for illness or death in the family. Agencies may require satisfactory medical documentation before approving a charge against sick leave.

There is no provision for cash payment for unused sick leave upon separation from State service. However, an employee who retires directly from State service may use up to 200 days of unused sick leave for retirement service credit on a day-to-day basis and up to 200 days to offset the cost of health insurance in retirement. For the latter, the value of unused sick leave is converted to a monthly credit, which is applied toward paying any contribution the employee makes for health insurance for the rest of his or her life.

Disability Terminations

Pursuant to Section 73 of the Civil Service Law, agencies are authorized to terminate disabled employees after one year of continuous absence, regardless of remaining leave accruals or eligibility for sick leave at half pay. For non-IPP participants, there is no guarantee that any leave benefits will be payable beyond one year. Under the IPP, employees receiving long-term disability benefits can still be terminated after one year of continuous absence, but long-term disability benefits continue to be payable as long as the disability continues.

5. Leave Donation Program

M/C employees may participate in the Leave Donation Program. This program permits the voluntary donation and receipt of accrued vacation credits for use as sick leave by other employees who, because of long-term personal illness, have exhausted their leave accruals. Donations across agency lines by the donor employee are permitted. Eligibility requirements to participate are available from agency personnel offices.

6. Leave for Pregnancy, Childbirth, Child Care, and Adoption

Pregnancy and childbirth are treated in the same manner as any other disability and in accordance with the above sick leave provisions. An employee, male or female, must be granted, upon request, a leave of absence without pay for child care purposes for up to seven months following delivery. Leave beyond this period may be granted at the discretion of the appointing authority. In cases of adoption, unpaid child care leave for either parent will be granted for a total of up to seven months. Absences for child care and adoption purposes may be charged to vacation, overtime compensatory time, or personal leave credits. However, use of leave credits does not extend the seven-month period. (See Appendix B for details.)

7. Paid Family Leave

Paid Family Leave benefits are available as of January 1, 2018 for Management/Confidential (M/C)-designated employees in bargaining units 06, 18, 46, and 66.

- Full-time employees: Employee who work a regular scheduled of 20 or more hours per week are eligible after 26 consecutive weeks of employment.
- Part-Time employees: Employees who work a regular scheduled of less than 20 hours per weeks are eligible after working 175 days, which do not need to be consecutive.

Employees are eligible regardless of citizenship and/or immigration status.

New York's Paid Family Leave provides job-protected, paid time off so you can:

- Bond with a newly born, adopted or fostered child,
- Care for a family member with a serious health condition, or
- Assist loved ones when a family member is deployed abroad on active military service.

More information on these qualifying events and how Paid Family Leave applies to your time and attendance can be found at https://www.cs.ny.gov/attendance_leave/pb17-02.pdf.

You can continue your health insurance while on leave and are guaranteed the same or comparable job after your leave ends. If you contribute to the cost of your health insurance, you must continue to pay your portion of the cost while on Paid Family Leave.

8. Federal Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA)

The Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 requires the granting of leave to employees for serious family or personal illness or in connection with the birth or placement of a child for adoption or foster care. Employees are eligible for coverage if they have been employed by New York State for at least twelve cumulative months or 52 cumulative weeks, and have performed a minimum of 1250 hours of service during the 12 months immediately preceding the date the leave is requested to begin. FMLA leave is unpaid leave. However, an M/C employee may elect to charge appropriate leave credits pursuant to provisions of the Attendance Rules. Eligible employees may take leave for up to 12 workweeks in a calendar year for the following reasons:

1. The birth of the employee's child and to care for the child.
2. The placement of a child with the employee for adoption or foster care.
3. To care for a spouse, child, or parent who has a serious health condition.
4. A serious health condition that renders the employee incapable of performing the functions of his or her position.

Employees are entitled to continuation of health and certain other insurances during any period of FMLA leave.

For further information on the FMLA, to determine whether eligibility requirements are met, or to obtain an application for family and medical leave, employees should contact their personnel office.

9. Personal Leave

An employee is credited upon appointment to State service, and each year thereafter on the anniversary of such appointment, with five days of personal leave. It may be used for such activities as the conduct of personal business or religious holiday observance, and may also be used as vacation. Personal leave not used within a year is forfeited.

10. Workers' Compensation Leave

It is essential that an employee report any job-related accident immediately to his or her supervisor and/or to the personnel office. Failure to do so could result in loss of benefits available to the employee for absence due to an occupational injury.

Employees who sustain job-related injuries may be eligible for benefits under the New York State Workers' Compensation Law as described in the Disability Coverage section of this handbook. In addition, depending on the date of injury, employees may qualify for benefits provided by New York State as an employer.

Workers' Compensation benefits for accidents or injuries that occurred prior to September 1, 1994 are determined based on the date of injury. For accidents and injuries that occurred on or after September 1, 1994, employees are entitled to use their accrued leave credits from the first day of disability. Subsequently, benefits under the Income Protection Plan or sick leave at half pay or leave without pay may be available as appropriate. The accrued leave credits used will be restored to the employee if the Workers' Compensation Board determines that the period of disability is covered by the Workers' Compensation Law. Any restoration of accruals will be prorated to reflect the wage award issued by the Workers' Compensation Board.

Section 71 of Civil Service Law entitles employees who have suffered a work-related injury or illness to a leave of absence for a cumulative period of one year. For injuries that were sustained as a result of an assault, a leave of absence for up to 24 months is provided.

A detailed explanation of the rights and responsibilities of employees wishing to avail themselves of these benefits is available from agency personnel offices.

11. Other Leaves

Employees are also eligible for leaves for a variety of other purposes, including Civil Service examinations, jury duty, civil defense duty, ordered military duty, cancer screening, bone marrow and organ donation, and professional examinations and meetings.

With respect to attendance at professional examinations, meetings, conferences or seminars, M/C employees may be allowed time off from work without charge to leave credits at the discretion of the appointing authority. This policy neither limits nor guarantees the amount of time that may be approved for such purposes.

12. Voluntary Reduction in Work Schedule

The Voluntary Reduction in Work Schedule (VRWS) program permits employees to trade a percentage of income for an equivalent amount of time off. Employees may reduce their work schedules and salaries from a minimum of five percent up to a maximum of 30 percent, with agency approval. Participating employees suffer no reduction in benefits for health insurance, dental insurance, vision care, the Income Protection Plan, or survivors' benefits, although leave accruals are prorated. For the purposes of general salary increases and performance advances, the employee's basic annual salary is treated as though it had not been reduced.

13. Leave Benefits for Part-Time Employees

Depending upon work schedule and pay basis, employees who work part-time may be eligible for some of the attendance and leave benefits described above. Specific information is available from agency personnel offices.

The Office of Employee Relations (OER) designs training for supervisors and managers across New York State government. OER also provides consulting and facilitation services to assist agencies with planning and organizational change. For more information please contact the Workforce and Organizational Development Unit at wodu@oer.ny.gov or at (518) 474-6772.

OER provides tuition reimbursement to M/C designated employees. For more information visit the OER website for M/C Tuition Reimbursement.

G. QUALITY OF WORK LIFE PROGRAMS

1. Worksite Child Care Centers

New York State was the first state to establish a network of child care centers for public employees. More than twenty centers, hosted by agencies around the State, serve children from eight weeks to five years of age. Many centers also offer summer camp programs for school-age children. Enrollment priority is given to children of State employees. This cooperative, joint labor/management project is funded by the Office of Employee Relations on behalf of M/C employees. Funding is also provided by the Civil Service Employees Association (CSEA), Public Employees Federation (PEF), Council 82-AFSCME, United University Professions (UUP), District Council 37(DC-37), Graduate Student Employees Union (GSEU), and the NYS Correctional Officers and Police Benevolent Association (NYSCOPBA).

For further information including a listing of the worksite child care centers contact Work-Life Services at (518) 473-8091, visit the website at <https://oer.ny.gov/network-child-care-centers>, or send email to worklife@oer.ny.gov.

2. Dependent Care Advantage Account

The Dependent Care Advantage Account (DCAAccount) is a flexible spending account benefit that allows employees to pay for eligible dependent care expenses with pre-tax dollars. Eligible expenses include care for individuals who live in your household at least 8 hours a day. For example, daycare, before/after school programs, pre-school programs, summer day camps and for elder care expenses or expenses related to non-medical care for a disabled dependent.

This pre-tax reimbursement benefit offered under the Flex Spending Account (FSA) program enables employees to save significantly on their dependent care expenses, and the State will contribute up to $800 toward an employee's DCAAccount when they enroll.

The enrollment period occurs every fall, but employees with an eligible change in status may enroll throughout the plan year. For a complete list of eligibility guidelines and expenses visit the Flexible Spending Account website at www.flexspend.ny.gov. Questions may be sent to fsa@oer.ny.gov or call 1-800-358-7202.

3. NYS-Ride

NYS-Ride is a pre-tax benefit that allows you to save money on public transportation expenses that are part of your daily commute to work. NYS-Ride is sponsored by OER and administered by WageWorks. Eligible expenses include: van pools, ferries, buses, subways, and trains. You can save on taxes by paying for your commuting expenses through pre-tax payroll deductions. The money withheld is loaded onto a smart card, WageWorks commuter Card, or used to purchase a transit pass on your behalf.

NYS-Ride does not have an open enrollment period; employees can enroll at any time. However, Federal regulations require that elections be made on a prospective basis and the State's payroll system requires deduction information two weeks in advance of the payroll. Starting, changing, or cancelling your election must be done by the first of the month, two (2) months before the benefit month. For example, if you wish to make a change to your November pass, you must do so by September 1.

To enroll or make a change go to www.nysride.com or call 1-866-428-7781 (TDD 1-866-353-8058). By participating in NYS-Ride and using pre-tax dollars to pay for commuting expenses, you can save up to 40 percent of every dollar spent up to the monthly contribution limit. The IRS sets the monthly limit annual, please visit nysride.com for the current amount.

4. Retirement Planning Information

On behalf of M/C employees, OER partially underwrites pre-retirement planning seminars for executive branch State employees. The seminars are offered regularly at various locations across the State and are designed for employees who are retirement-eligible or within five years of retirement eligibility. For more information on seminar schedules, contact your agency liaison to learn how to enroll. For a list of agency liaisons, visit the website at <https://oer.ny.gov/directions-pre-retirement-seminar-contact-information>.

A comprehensive pre-retirement guide has also been developed and is available to assist employees with the many aspects of retirement planning. For a printable version of the comprehensive Self-Help Guide to Pre-Retirement Planning, 23 short videos, a retirement checklist, monthly pre-retirement planning tips and helpful links visit <https://oer.ny.gov/pre-retirement-planning-information>.

5. Employee Assistance Program

The Employee Assistance Program (EAP) is a free, voluntary, and confidential assessment and referral service designed to help employees and their families resolve work-related and personal problems. Some of the issues EAP can help with include financial, legal, personal and work relationships, alcohol and drugs, stress, conflict and anger, gambling, retirement, eldercare, parenting and child care, grief, depression or other mental health, illness and disability, domestic violence, life changes, and work and life balance.

When you contact EAP, a specially trained EAP coordinator will offer to meet with you in-person, or by phone, to assess your needs and, when additional help is needed, to refer you to an array of resources in your community and online. Your EAP coordinator understands the nature of public service and the unique culture of your agency and has an in-depth knowledge of local community resources as well as the state's health benefit plans and other benefits.

Everyone has problems from time to time. For help 24/7, call 800-822-0244 or visit the website at <https://oer.ny.gov/employee-assistance-program>.

H. HEALTH, DENTAL AND VISION BENEFITS

1. Health Insurance

New York State offers two group health insurance options for its employees: enrollment in the Empire Plan or enrollment in a Health Maintenance Organization (HMO). While representing different approaches to health insurance protection, they both provide a full range of benefits and the opportunity to limit out-of-pocket expenses.

Costs

New York State helps pay for your health insurance coverage. After the State's contribution, you are responsible for paying the balance of your premium through biweekly deductions from your paycheck. For Empire Plan and HMO enrollees in the titles allocated or equated to Salary Grade 9 and below, the State will pay 88 percent of the cost of the premium for enrollee coverage and 73 percent of the additional cost for dependent coverage. For Empire Plan and HMO enrollees in titles allocated or equated to Salary Grade 10 and above, the State will pay 84 percent of the cost of the premium for enrollee coverage and 69 percent of the additional cost for dependent coverage.

If you are enrolled in an HMO, the State's maximum contribution toward the cost of your premium will be 100 percent of its dollar contribution to the hospital/medical/mental health and substance abuse components of the Empire Plan premium.

Employees may pay their share of the health insurance premium on a pre-tax basis.

Changes in Enrollment Status

If an employee wishes to change health insurance coverage as a result of a birth, death, or other change in family status, he or she must submit an application for change to the agency health benefits administrator in the personnel office.

Change of Plan Option

An employee may apply for a change of health insurance plan during the annual option transfer period, traditionally held in the fall.

Leave Without Pay

If an employee takes leave without pay or is otherwise temporarily removed from the payroll, he or she may pick up the full cost of the health insurance program and thereby continue coverage while off the payroll. Should such leave without pay occur as part of an authorized leave under FMLA, he or she may be entitled to continue coverage by paying the employee share. Arrangements for continued coverage must be made in advance through the personnel office.

Layoff

In the event of layoff, an employee may be eligible to purchase continued health insurance coverage for up to one year by paying the employee share of coverage cost.

Continuation of Coverage under COBRA

The federal Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (COBRA) of 1986 requires the State to provide for continuation of health insurance coverage for up to 18 months for employees who lose coverage due to voluntary or involuntary termination (other than for gross misconduct) or reduction in work hours. An employee's spouse or dependents are eligible for continuation of coverage for up to 36 months upon the employee's death, entitlement to Medicare, or following a divorce or legal separation, or when dependent children reach the maximum age for coverage under the plan. More information about continuation of coverage can be obtained from agency personnel offices.

Waiver of Premium

If an employee covered by the State's health insurance program (the Empire Plan or certain HMOs) is totally disabled and is on authorized leave without pay, unpaid Family and Medical Leave, or on a preferred list for reinstatement, the requirement that he or she pay a premium may be waived for a period of up to one year. Additional information is available from agency personnel offices.

Retirement Coverage

Covered employees may be eligible to continue health insurance coverage in retirement if, at retirement, they have completed at least ten years of State service in a benefits eligible position.

Benefits

Specific information and publications covering health plan benefits are available on the Department of Civil Service's website at <http://www.cs.ny.gov/ebd/>.

2. Prescription Drug Benefits

M/C employees who are enrolled in the Empire Plan are eligible for prescription drug benefits under the New York State Prescription Drug Plan. Enrolled employees, retirees, and their eligible dependents may obtain prescription drugs at a community pharmacy or through the plan's mail service pharmacy. Eligibility for dependent children will continue up to age 26 regardless of marital or student status.

To receive prescription drugs at a participating pharmacy, the enrollee must present his or her New York Government Employee Benefit Card and prescription and pay a copayment (see plan booklet for details). When a non-participating pharmacy is used, enrollees must pay the pharmacy the full cost of the prescription and submit a completed reimbursement form. Forms are available at agency personnel offices. Up to a 90-day supply of medication may be obtained, with refills for up to one year.

Employees who are enrolled in HMOs are not covered by this plan but are covered for prescription drug benefits according to the provisions of their particular plans. Details on coverage for those employees are available from individual HMOs.

3. Dental Insurance

New York State provides M/C employees with a group dental insurance plan, currently administered by Group Health Incorporated (GHI), an Emblem Health Company. The entire cost of the premium is paid by the State. After six months of service, the employee and dependents are covered on the first day of the next calendar month. The plan covers a broad range of dental work. If an employee chooses to use a participating dentist, all covered services are paid by the plan after a $25 deductible. If the employee chooses to use a non-participating dentist, reimbursement is made in accordance with an indemnity fee schedule. Detailed information, including the fee schedule, is contained in materials available from agency personnel offices.

4. Vision Care

Annual salaried employees who work at least half-time and their dependents are eligible for vision care coverage under the M/C Vision Care Plan. If an employee chooses to use a participating provider for vision care needs, the Plan covers the entire cost of an examination and an allowance toward eyeglasses (selected from among a large variety of frames available under the Plan). Daily wear contact lenses are also covered, but require a co-payment. If the employee chooses a non-participating provider, he or she must pay the provider and reimbursement will be made directly to the employee according to a fixed schedule. An occupational vision care benefit covers the cost of an additional pair of eyeglasses for employees determined to have occupation-related vision problems and who require special eyeglasses for work; however, this benefit must be used in conjunction with a regular examination provided by a participating optometrist.

Vision care benefits are available to each covered employee or dependent once in any 24-month period. When employees or covered dependents require vision care services, they should call the participating provider of their choice and advise the provider that they are covered under the New York State Vision Care Plan. The provider is responsible for obtaining authorization from the Plan before providing services. Employees who choose to use a non-participating provider must contact the Plan to obtain a claim form. For more detailed information, visit the website or call the Vision Care Plan at the number listed in the Directory in Section N.

5. Health Care Spending Account

The Health Care Spending Account is a benefit offered under the Flex Spending Account that allows employees to pay for medically necessary health care expenses with pre-tax dollars. This includes medical, hospital, laboratory, prescription drug, dental, vision, and hearing expenses that are not reimbursed by insurance or other benefit plans. The enrollment period occurs every fall, but employees who experience eligible changes in status may enroll throughout the plan year. Call 1-800-358-7202 for enrollment materials and more information, or visit the Flex Spending Account website at www.flexspend.ny.gov. Also, Questions may be sent to fsa@oer.ny.gov.

I. RETIREMENT COVERAGE

1. Employees' Retirement System

The New York State and Local Employees' Retirement System (ERS) is organized in tiers. Tiers are assigned to employees based on the date they first join the retirement system and determine what retirement benefits an employee is eligible for. For more information go to www.osc.state.ny.us/retire.

You Are In:	If You Joined:
Tier 1	Before July 1, 1973
Tier 2	July 1, 1973 through July 26, 1976
Tier 3	July 27, 1976 through August 31, 1983
Tier 4	September 1, 1983 through December 31, 2009
Tier 5	January 1, 2010 through March 31, 2012
Tier 6	April 1, 2012 or after

If you started employment with New York State before January 2, 2010 and would like specific information regarding your retirement benefits, contact your personnel office or the ERS for assistance in determining your membership tier and benefit package.

The descriptions of the above tiers are necessarily brief and do not reflect all possible retirement benefit options available to members in those tiers. Retirement benefits and the formulas for their calculation vary by tier and are based on final average salary and years of service. Detailed information on retirement benefits is provided in booklets on each tier, which are available from the New York State and Local Employees' Retirement System or on their website at www.osc.state.ny.us/retire.

2. Crediting Other Service

If you move from one state agency to another, or to any public employer participating in the ERS, without a break in service, you will maintain continuous membership. Remember to notify your new employer that you are a member, and give your membership number. If you return to state service after leaving for a time and did not withdraw your contributions when you left previously, you may still be considered a member of the System and can continue to earn service credit. If you withdrew your contributions, you must rejoin the ERS as a new member. Reinstatement of your original membership date and credit for service requires application to the ERS and repayment of the monies previously withdrawn. If you have other service as a member of another public retirement system in New York State, contact the ERS for more information.

3. Deferred Compensation Plan

The New York State Deferred Compensation Plan is a voluntary savings program that allows employees to save for retirement on a tax deferred basis. This program enables employees to defer (contribute through payroll deduction) a portion of their annual salary, not to exceed the current maximum ($18,500 in 2018) or even more through catch up provisions. Employees do not pay federal, state, or city income taxes on pre-tax contributions or accumulated earnings until the funds are distributed, generally at retirement when most people are in lower tax brackets. Roth contributions are also available.

Investment options include target retirement date funds, a stable value fund, and a variety of stock and bond mutual funds and collective trusts. Additional information is available from the Plan's website at www.nysdcp.com or from the Plan's Helpline. (See Directory, Section N)

J. DISABILITY COVERAGE

1. M/C Income Protection Plan

Eligible M/C employees who have creditable State service prior to January 1, 1986 and are appointed to an M/C position on or after that date have 30 days from the date of appointment to elect disability coverage under the M/C Income Protection Plan (IPP) or to participate fully in the State's sick leave accrual program. Eligible M/C employees who do not have creditable State service prior to January 1, 1986 and are appointed to an M/C position on or after that date are automatically covered by the IPP. M/C employees who selected a disability coverage option (either the IPP or full sick-leave benefits) during the open enrollment period in 1985 and employees who select an option subsequent to that period are covered by that option as long as they are in eligible M/C status. The selection is one-time only and may not be changed at a later date.

The M/C Income Protection Plan consists of short- and long-term disability insurance, which, in combination with sick leave benefits, provides partial income continuation in the event an employee becomes unable to work due to personal illness or injury.

If an employee becomes unable to work due to illness or injury, they must exhaust all sick leave credits before becoming eligible to receive either short term disability (STD) or long term disability (LTD) benefits. However, if your accrued sick leave is not enough to cover the first 14 calendar days of your absence, you may use other leave credits (vacation, personal leave, holiday leave, overtime compensatory time or VRWS credits) or go on leave without pay for the balance of the 14 days. In no event will STD benefits be paid before 14 consecutive calendar days have passed.

After exhausting your sick leave, you may choose which, and how many leave credits you want to use prior to placement on STD. STD then provides 50 percent of base salary up to $961.54 per week for up to six months from the onset of disability. After six months of disability, LTD benefits are payable at 60 percent of base salary up to $5,000 per month until the disability ceases, but not beyond age 65 or death. Metropolitan Life Insurance Company currently underwrites both the STD and LTD plans.

Additional information is available from personnel offices, the Employee Benefits Division of the Department of Civil Service, or the Office of Employee Relations. (See Directory, Section N) Disability coverage is also addressed in the discussion of sick leave in the Attendance and Leave section of this handbook.

2. Disability Retirement Benefit

The New York State Employees' Retirement System (ERS) provides a disability retirement benefit for employees who become physically or mentally unable to perform their duties as a result of an accident or some other cause. The benefit is based on the type of disability the employee incurs and the tier of the Employees' Retirement System of which the employee is a member. These benefits are pensions that are provided to employees who are not yet eligible for normal retirement benefits. Additional information is available from the Employees' Retirement System. (See Directory, Section N)

3. Ordinary Disability Benefit

An employee who is a member of the Employees' Retirement System and has at least ten years of service may be eligible for an ordinary disability retirement benefit if it has been determined that the employee is disabled and should begin retirement. The employee (or an authorized representative) must apply for the benefit within 90 days of leaving the payroll or the conclusion of a medical leave of absence. The employee may also be eligible for Workers' Compensation benefits. Tier 3 members may be eligible for a retirement benefit after only five years of service; however, benefits under this provision are reduced by a percentage of Social Security benefits and any payable Workers' Compensation benefits.

4. Accidental Disability Benefit

In the case of disability resulting from an on-the-job accident, an employee who is a member of the Employees' Retirement System may receive a disability pension regardless of length of service if the disabling accident is not a result of the employee's negligence. The employee must file timely written notice of the accident with the New York State Comptroller or with the employing agency. (Notice to the Workers' Compensation Board fulfills this requirement.) In Tiers 1 and 2 and for certain provisions under Tier 3, any accidental disability benefits received through Workers' Compensation are deducted from the ERS disability benefit.

5. Social Security Disability Benefits

An employee may be eligible for monthly Social Security disability benefits if it is determined that he or she is, or is expected to be, mentally or physically disabled for a minimum of 12 months and has worked long enough and recently enough under Social Security to be fully insured. The amount of this benefit may be affected by other government payments and disability benefits. For additional information, call any Social Security office or contact the New York State Employee's Retirement System.

6. Workers' Compensation Benefits

Workers' Compensation is insurance, paid by New York State as an employer, that provides wage replacement benefits and medical care for employees who become disabled due to a work-related injury or illness. Employees are covered for all costs associated with necessary medical care as is required by the nature of their injury or the process of recovery. Employees may also be eligible for wage replacement benefits. For injuries sustained prior to July 1, 2010, wage replacement benefits will be equal to two-thirds of the employee's average weekly wage up to an established maximum. Wage replacement benefits for injuries sustained on or after July 1, 2010 will be up to two-thirds of the State Average Weekly Wage. No wage replacement benefits are paid for the first seven days of disability unless the disability extends beyond 14 days. In that event, the employee may be due wage replacement benefits retroactive to the first day off the job of injury. However, necessary medical care is provided for as long as the disability exists. The Attendance and Leave section of this handbook contains more information on Workers' Compensation Leave benefits.

It is essential that an employee report any job-related accident immediately to his or her supervisor and to the personnel office, where forms are available to apply for Workers' Compensation benefits.

K. DEATH BENEFITS

If an employee dies while in State service, beneficiaries may receive death benefit payments from the Employees' Retirement System, the Social Security Administration, the Workers' Compensation Board and the M/C Survivors' Benefit Program. Detailed information is available from the Employees' Retirement System and agency personnel offices.

1. Employees' Retirement System Benefits

The Employees' Retirement System provides its members' beneficiaries with death benefits, the amount and type of which vary according to several factors, including cause of death, age, years of service, and tier membership. When death results from an accident occurring on the job (provided the accident did not result from the employee's negligence), a pension equal to one-half the employee's final average salary (or in some cases, the salary during the last year of active service) is paid to the spouse or certain other eligible beneficiaries as prescribed by law. No minimum period of service is required for eligibility. The benefit may be reduced by the amount of any Workers' Compensation benefit paid.

In the case of an employee whose death is not caused by a job-related accident, the Retirement System pays a lump sum to designated beneficiaries based on the employee's age, years of service, tier membership, and other factors. The first $50,000 of the Ordinary Death Benefit is paid in the form of group life insurance and, as such, is exempt from federal income tax. Formulas for computing the amount of death benefits are detailed in booklets on each retirement tier, available from the Retirement System.

Each employee files a designation of beneficiary upon joining the Retirement System. However, changing life circumstances may call for changes in the designation of a beneficiary. Members may check or change their beneficiary designations by writing to the Employees' Retirement System.

2. Social Security Survivors' Benefits

The family of a deceased employee who is insured by Social Security may be eligible for monthly survivors benefits and an additional one-time lump-sum death payment (in 2000, this amount was $255). The amount of the monthly benefit is a percentage of the monthly amount the deceased worker would have received from Social Security had he or she lived to retire at age 65. Other factors also determine the amount payable to survivors, such as the number and age of dependents, and whether any dependent has a disability. As with all Social Security benefits, there is a limit (maximum family benefit) on the total amount of benefits that all members of one family may receive based on the earnings record of one worker. The survivor's own work earnings may also affect the amount received from Social Security. Contact any Social Security office for more detailed information.

3. Workers' Compensation Benefits

New York State employees are covered by Workers' Compensation insurance, which provides cash benefits and medical care for employees who become disabled because of job-related injuries or illnesses. If the employee dies from a compensable job-related injury or illness, the surviving spouse and dependents as defined by law are entitled to weekly cash benefits (subject to possible Social Security offsets). The amount is figured as two-thirds of the deceased employee's average weekly wage for the year before the compensable incident up to an established weekly maximum, regardless of how many dependents are involved. Funeral expenses are payable up to $6,000 in New York City and Rockland, Westchester, Nassau and Suffolk Counties. In all other counties the amount is $5,000.

4. M/C Survivors' Benefit Program

Beneficiaries of M/C employees qualify for a benefit that, when added to the Retirement System's Ordinary Death Benefit, equals one year's salary. The maximum of the two benefits combined may not exceed the lesser of the annual salary or $50,000 or, if the benefit payable is reduced due to the member's age, five times the Ordinary Death Benefit (payable through the Retirement System) for which the employee is eligible.

The M/C Survivors' Benefit Program is authorized by Section 154-a of the Civil Service Law and is administered by the Employees' Retirement System. To qualify, an employee must meet a length of service requirement and die before the effective date of retirement. Questions concerning specifics of this program may be directed to the Survivors' Benefit Program, Employees' Retirement System. (See Directory, Section N)

5. Accidental Death Benefit

A $50,000 accidental death benefit is provided to the survivors or the estate of M/C employees who die as a result of accidental on-the-job injuries, and for whom death benefits have been paid pursuant to the Workers' Compensation Law. This benefit is in addition to, and does not replace, other State death benefits now provided.

In addition, a special fund has been established to provide the children of employees for whom such benefits have been paid with full tuition, up to the amount charged by the State University of New York, to attend any accredited college or university in New York State. This benefit is authorized by Section 154-c of the Civil Service Law and is administered by individual agencies and the Office of Employee Relations.

L. OPTIONAL GROUP INSURANCE

1. Group Life Insurance

New York State offers an optional group term life insurance program for management/confidential employees called "M/C Life," which is currently underwritten by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. Employees who enroll pay the full cost of this insurance. Various levels of coverage are offered at competitive group rates. The plan offers term life insurance for employees and their eligible dependents; an accidental death and dismemberment benefit is also included.

Employees who are non-smokers are eligible for a non-smoker premium discount. To be eligible for the reduced premium schedule, an employee must not have smoked cigarettes, cigars, or a pipe for the 12 months preceding either initial enrollment in the program or September 1 of the year in which a change in status is made.

The major features of the plan are:

- Employees may choose between a fixed amount of life insurance or an amount based on annual salary, with a maximum coverage of $500,000 available. An employee may select $5,000, $10,000, or $15,000 worth of coverage, or may select from one to five times annual salary (but not to exceed $500,000).
- In the event of death due to an accident prior to age 70, an additional accidental death benefit equal to the full amount of life insurance coverage (to a maximum of $250,000) is payable to the beneficiary. Double indemnity payments up to $500,000 are provided if death is caused by an accident that occurred while the employee was traveling on a common carrier (e.g., bus, train, or commercial airline).
- In the event of accidental dismemberment, half of the accidental death benefit is payable for the loss of a hand, foot, or the sight of one eye. The full amount is payable for any combination of these losses from any one accident.
- Dependent group life insurance is also available: up to 50 percent of the enrollee's benefit to a maximum of $20,000 for a spouse, and in a flat amount of $4,000 for each eligible child.

- Enrollees may continue group life insurance or convert to an individual policy upon retirement subject to the terms of the policy and provisions of State Insurance Law. If an individual leaves State service prior to retirement, he or she also may purchase an individual conversion policy.

Details of the program are contained in the booklet, New York State Group Life Insurance Plan: M/C Life, which is available, together with enrollment applications, from agency personnel offices.

2. M/C Personal Lines Insurance Program

The M/C Personal Lines Insurance Program is an optional mass marketed program that offers M/C employees automobile, homeowners/renters, and personal (umbrella) liability coverage at reasonable cost. It is currently administered by Pearl Carroll & Associates LLC. All M/C employees are eligible to take part in this program and may sign up for any of these coverages at any time. Obtaining umbrella liability insurance, however, may require that underlying automobile or homeowner coverage be written through the same company that provides the umbrella coverage. Employees may elect to pay insurance premiums through payroll deduction or by direct payment to Pearl Carroll. To receive additional information and/or a personal rate quotation for any of these coverages, employees should contact Pearl Carroll & Associates LLC directly. (See Directory, Section N)

2. Sexual Orientation

See Equal Employment Opportunity Rights and Responsibilities Handbook

3. Age Discrimination

4. Ethics in Government

The Joint Commission on Public Ethics was created to oversee and regulate ethics and lobbying in New York. It has broad authority over Statewide elected officials, candidates for those offices, executive branch officers and employees, members of the Legislature and legislative branch employees and candidates, as well as certain political party chairs, and registered lobbyists and their clients. The Commission provides information, education, and advice regarding current ethics and lobbying laws and promotes compliance through audits, investigations and enforcement proceedings.

The Commission regularly provides advice and guidance to State officers and employees and lobbyists and clients concerning ethics and lobbying laws. Certain

State officers and employees, elected State officials, and legislative employees, among others, are required to file annual Financial Disclosure Statements, Public Officers Law section 73-a which are publicly available. This requirement applies to policy makers as determined by each individual agency and so-called "threshold filers" who earn in excess of CSEA salary grade 24. These annual Financial Disclosure Statement are due on May 15 of each year. Section 73 of the Public Officers Law concerns limitations on business or professional activities by State officers and employees. Section 74 contains the Code of Ethics, which requires that officers and employees maintain the highest standards of conduct in carrying out the responsibilities of their respective positions. Sections 73 and 74 are included as Appendices C and D. More information on ethics is available at www.jcope.ny.gov.

5. Political Activities

While New York State employees are not discouraged from participating in the political process, there must be a clear separation between their political activities and their duties as State employees. It is the policy of the State that no employee shall conduct political activities on paid State time or use State equipment, vehicles, or office space for any purpose other than official State business. In addition, employees of New York State shall not use their official authority to influence the political action of any person. Neither shall appointment to or removal from a State civil service protected position, in any manner, be affected by one's political affiliation. Section 107 of the Civil Service Law and Sections 17-156 and 17-158 of the Election Law specify these prohibitions.

6. Diversity and Inclusion

New York State is committed to a culture of respect that values and promotes diversity, inclusion and equal opportunity, free of unlawful discrimination on the basis of protected class status, including, age, race, creed, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, military or veteran status, disability, predisposing genetic characteristics, marital or family status, domestic violence victim status, arrest record or criminal conviction history, or any other impermissible basis, in all functions performed, and services offered, by New York State employees.

It is the policy of New York State to protect and promote diversity, inclusion and equal opportunity in the State's workforce in accordance with the requirements of the New York State Human Rights Law, Title VII of the Federal Civil Rights Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, all applicable requirements of New York state and federal law, and Executive Order No. 187 (2018).

7. Grievance Procedures for M/C Employees

Executive Order No. 42 (1970) establishes a procedure for the submission, review, and settlement of M/C grievances. An M/C employee has the right to grieve matters free from interference, coercion, restraint, discrimination, or reprisal. An employee may present his or her case at each step established by the grievance procedure and has the right to representation at each of these steps. A copy of the Executive Order grievance procedure and the rules and regulations that govern it can be found in Appendix F.

The initial steps are handled within the employee's agency, beginning with the supervisor and ending with the appointing authority. The final step of an appeal is heard by the three-member Grievance Appeals Board, composed of non-State employees. The Board reviews those appeals it deems appropriate and may require the personal appearance of the grievant and others. The Executive Order requires that each agency establish formal procedures for the submission of grievances by employees. Copies of an agency's grievance procedure and grievance form may be obtained from the agency personnel or labor relations office. An Executive Order grievance may also be filed in the form of a letter or memo to the employee's supervisor.

8. Alcohol and Controlled Substances in the Workplace

The longstanding policy of the State is that employees who engage in the unlawful distribution, sale or attempted sale, possession, or purchase of controlled substances while at the workplace or while performing in a work-related capacity will be subject to criminal, civil, and disciplinary penalties. Such illegal act, even if engaged in off duty, may result in disciplinary action.

State policy also prohibits on-the-job use of or impairment from alcohol or controlled substances. An employee may be required to undergo a confidential medical examination to ascertain the cause of impairment or disability when there exists a "reasonable suspicion," based on specific, reliable observations, that such impairment or disability is a result of the use of alcohol or a controlled substance. If alcohol or controlled substance use or impairment is found to exist, the appointing authority will determine the appropriate course of action, which may include disciplinary action, referral to the Employee Assistance Program, or the use of disability leave procedures. Agencies may have their own policies, procedures, or practices regarding alcohol and controlled substances, which also apply to their employees. A copy of the State's policy on alcohol and controlled substances in the workplace is included as Appendix G.

9. Defense and Indemnification of State Officers and Employees

Section 17 of the Public Officers Law provides for the defense and indemnification of employees who are involved in civil lawsuits based on their employment with New York State. If such civil action or proceeding arises out of an act or omission that occurred while the employee was acting within the scope of official duties, the State will provide for his or her defense or provide reasonable attorneys' fees if the Attorney General cannot provide representation. Likewise, the State will indemnify employees in the amount of any judgement or settlement obtained against them, provided that the injury or damage did not result from intentional wrongdoing on their part. Employees who are involved in any such lawsuit should notify their personnel office and the Attorney General immediately.

10. Review of an M/C Employee's Personal History Folder

Only one official personal history folder is to be maintained for an M/C employee. This folder should contain copies of personnel transactions, and all documents, memoranda, and correspondence relating to the employee's job performance, including written performance appraisals. Copies of such documents, memoranda, and correspondence should be provided to the employee at the time it is placed in the personal history folder.

An employee is to be given the opportunity to review his or her personal history folder in the presence of an appropriate agency official within three working days of a written request to do so. In the event the folder is kept other than at the employee's work location, up to five working days' notice may be required.

An M/C employee has the right to place in the personal history folder a written response to any material he or she deems to be adverse, with such response being attached to the document at issue.

Moving from a Bargaining Unit into the M/C Group

If you have recently moved from a position in a bargaining unit to a new position in the M/C group, or if your current position has been newly designated M/C, your personnel office should have provided you with information about what that change means for you in terms of benefits, available programs, policies, and practices.

There are certain benefits that are available only to M/Cs and others that differ somewhat from those offered to bargaining unit employees. Participation in some programs requires you to make important decisions in a relatively short time in order to take full advantage of these benefits. For others, you need only be aware of certain program elements. The following sets forth the major benefits and programs that are unique to M/Cs, and lists the issues to consider upon moving into the M/C group. Of course, you should read the entire handbook carefully, and familiarize yourself with all benefits, programs, policies, and practices that now apply to you.

As an M/C employee, you are now eligible to participate in the following benefits and programs previously unavailable to you:

- M/C Income Protection Plan
- Paid Family Leave
- M/C Life Insurance Program
- M/C Training and Development Programs
- Voluntary Reduction in Work Schedule (PS&T unit employees are also eligible)
- M/C Personal Insurance Program (auto, homeowners, personal liability insurances)

Some Important Considerations:

- If you have creditable State service prior to January 1, 1986, you have 30 days from the date of your appointment to the M/C position to choose between comprehensive disability coverage under the M/C Income Protection Plan (IPP) with reduced annual sick leave accruals, or the State's alternative sick leave accrual program.
- M/C employees can purchase low-cost group life insurance through the M/C Life Insurance Program. If you enroll in the program within the first six biweekly pay periods since your appointment to the M/C position, coverage is guaranteed without undergoing a physical examination or completing a medical questionnaire.
- There is a 28-day waiting period before new M/C employees may use the M/C Vision Care or Hearing Care benefits. You must also complete an enrollment form in order to use the plan.

- You may want to consider taking advantage of the several mass-marketed group insurance programs that are available to M/C employees on a payroll deduction basis (M/C Personal Insurance Program).
- You may also want to enroll in the State's Deferred Compensation Plan, through which you can direct the investment of a portion of your salary annually and defer taxes on these amounts and any appreciation in their value until you take distributions, normally at retirement age.
- If you are currently pursuing educational activities or have plans to take credit or non-credit career-related courses, you should inquire about benefits available under the M/C Tuition Reimbursement Program.
- OER sends information about upcoming M/C education and training opportunities to M/C employees, agency heads, and agency training and quality units, as appropriate. M/C employees seeking more information regarding management development should contact their agency training designee or OER.

Leave for Pregnancy, Childbirth, Child Care and Adoption

Department of Civil Service memorandum, "Leave for Pregnancy, Childbirth and Child Care," from Joseph A. F. Valenti to State Departments and Agencies, January 28, 1982.

We have reviewed the State's policy on leave for pregnancy, childbirth, and child care in the light of recent court determinations concerning such leaves. I find it necessary to revise this policy statement to reflect the views of the court concerning these subjects. This memorandum revokes and replaces the August 3, 1973, memorandum from the Civil Service Commission regarding maternity leave effective immediately.

Pregnant employees may be asked or encouraged to report the existence of pregnancy, but they may not be required to do so. Where, in the opinion of the appointing officer, the nature of the duties performed may be particularly hazardous or burdensome during pregnancy, this should be pointed out in the letter of appointment and such employees should be urged to advise their supervisors of any pregnancy. In any case where the appointing authority believes the employee is unable to perform the duties of the position because of pregnancy, the employee may be required to undergo a medical examination, at the expense of the department or agency, by a physician designated by the appointing authority. A pregnant employee who is determined to be medically disabled from the performance of job duties must be treated the same as any other employee similarly disabled insofar as disability leave benefits are concerned.

Sick leave and sick leave at half-pay may be used only during a period of medical disability. Under the State's policy, disabilities arising from pregnancy or childbirth are treated the same as other disabilities in terms of eligibility for or entitlement to sick leave with and/or without pay, extended sick leave and sick leave at half-pay. Generally, the period of such disability is deemed to commence approximately four weeks prior to delivery and to continue for six weeks following delivery. While doctor's certificates may be required for any period of disability, agencies should request detailed medical documentation whenever disability is claimed to commence prior to or to extend beyond the period of disability described above.

An appointing authority may approve an employee's request for leave without pay during pregnancy and prior to the onset of any medical disability as a matter of discretion. Absences during pregnancy and following childbirth may be charged to vacation, overtime or personal leave irrespective of whether the employee is disabled. While the use of annual leave, overtime and personal leave accruals prior to the onset of medical disability is discretionary with the appointing authority, employees must be permitted to use these accruals during a period of medical disability after sick leave with pay has been exhausted.

Employees, regardless of sex, are entitled to leave without pay for child care for up to seven months following the date of delivery. For purposes of computing the seven-month period of mandatory leave, periods during which the employee was absent for "disability" or use of leave credits are included; the mandatory seven-month period is not extended by the granting of disability leave or the use of accrued leave. During a period of leave for child care, employees shall be permitted, upon request, to use annual leave, personal leave and overtime credits before being granted leave without pay. As is the case with other mandatory leaves without pay (e.g., military leave), agencies shall not require that employees exhaust all appropriate leave credits prior to being granted leave without pay for child care. Sick leave or sick leave at half-pay may be used only during a period of medical disability (Attendance Rules Sections 21.3, 21.4, 21.5, 28.3, 28.4 and 28.5). Except in the case of continuing medical disability, any leave of absence beyond the seventh month following childbirth shall be at the discretion of the appointing authority as provided in Sections 22.1 and 29.1 of the Attendance Rules. An employee who requests leave for child care of less than seven months is entitled to have such leave extended, upon request, up to the seven-month maximum and may, at the discretion of the appointing authority, have such leave extended beyond the seventh month. In certain situations, an employee may not be permitted to return from such leave until the expiration of the period that such employee requested and was granted. Generally, such restrictions on early return are limited to situations where such return would be disruptive of a project or wherever the termination of a replacement would occur.

During the seven-month period following childbirth, the granting of leave for child care is mandatory upon request from either parent. If both parents are State employees, leave for child care is mandatory for one parent at a time and the parents may elect to split the mandatory seven months leave into two separate blocks of leave with each parent entitled to one continuous period of leave but not to exceed a combined total of seven months of leave and not to extend beyond seven months from the date of delivery.

Agencies may, in their discretion, approve other arrangements for shared leave including concurrent leave and may, as a matter of discretion, extend leave for child care beyond the mandatory seven months. Furthermore, while one parent is absent on leave for child care, agencies continue to have the discretion to approve requests from the other parent for periods of vacation or personal leave, and for family sick leave in accordance with Sections 21.3(f) and 28.3(f) of the Attendance Rules.

Temporary, provisional and probationary employees without any permanent status are entitled to leave with full pay and/or without pay as described above. However, these employees are not eligible for sick leave at half-pay nor are they entitled to leave beyond that date when their employment would otherwise terminate (e.g., temporary item abolished, permanent incumbent restored to item, certification of eligible lists, etc.). In general, the State's policy on leave for pregnancy, childbirth and child care shall not be construed to require extension of any employment (permanent, permanent contingent, temporary, or provisional) beyond the time it would otherwise terminate.

Questions concerning the State's policy on leave for pregnancy, childbirth and child care should be referred to the Division of Program Evaluation and Development of this Department (Telephone 518 457-2295).

Department of Civil Service memorandum, "Child Care Leave for Adoptive Parents," from Joseph A.F. Valenti to State Departments and Agencies, March 11, 1982

On January 28, 1982, I issued a memorandum to State agencies concerning leave for pregnancy, childbirth and child care. Consistent with that memorandum, I am extending entitlement to leave without pay for child care to adoptive parents in the same manner and to the same extent that such leave is available to natural parents. This memorandum applies to all eligible State employees, except that where an Agreement between the State and an employee organization entered into pursuant to Article 14 of the Civil Service Law (the Taylor Law) provides for a different leave benefit, the provisions of the Agreement shall control. However, nothing in the Agreements precludes appointing authorities from extending the benefits provided by this policy on a discretionary basis.

State employees, regardless of gender, are entitled to a maximum of seven months of leave without pay for child care in connection with the adoption of a child in accordance with the provisions of Article 7 of the Domestic Relations Law. Entitlement to such leave without pay shall be for a period of up to seven months. The employee may take leave for this purpose starting at any time from the date the adoptive child is placed with the family to the effective date of the adoption.

In general, the guidelines for leave of absence for child care for adoptive parents are the same as those governing leave for child care for natural parents.

During a period of leave for child care, employees shall be permitted, upon request, to use annual leave, personal leave and overtime credits before being granted leave without pay. However, agencies shall not require that employees exhaust all appropriate leave credits before being granted leave without pay for child care. The seven-month period of such leave is not extended by the use of accrued leave credits.

An adoptive parent who requests a leave of absence for child care purposes of less than seven months is entitled to have such leave extended, upon request, up to the seven-month maximum.

If both adoptive parents are State employees, one parent may elect to take the entire leave, or the parents may choose to divide the leave time with each entitled to one continuous period of leave as long as it does not exceed a combined total of seven months of leave.

Agencies may, in their discretion, approve other arrangements for shared leave and may as a matter of discretion extend leave for child care for adoptive parents beyond the seven months to which this new policy entitles them. Furthermore, while one parent is absent on leave for child care, agencies continue to have the discretion to approve requests from the other parent for periods of vacation or personal leave, or for family sick leave in accordance with Section 21.3(f) and 28.3(f) of the Attendance Rules.

The State's policy on leave for child care for adoptive parents shall not be construed to require extension of any employment beyond the time it would otherwise terminate.

Questions concerning the State's policy on leave for child care for adoptive parents should be referred to the Division of Program Evaluation and Development of this Department (Telephone 518 457-2295).

CERTIFICATION AND NOTICE

Date of Termination

I, (name and title) of (state agency), hereby certify that your termination from State service is because of economy, consolidation or abolition of functions, curtailment of activities or other reduction in the State work force. Therefore, you are covered by the provisions of paragraph (b) of subdivision eight of section seventy-three of the Public Officers Law.

You were designated as a policy maker: Yes _____ No _____
(Title) _____

To the Employee:

This certification affects your right to engage in certain activities after you leave state service.

Ordinarily, employees who leave state service may not, for two years, appeal or practice before their former agency or receive compensation for rendering services on a matter before their former agency. However, because of this certification, you may be exempt from this restriction.

If you were not designated as a Policymaker by your agency, you are automatically exempt. You may, upon leaving state service, immediately appear, practice or receive compensation for services rendered before your former agency.

If you were designated as a Policymaker by your agency, you are eligible to apply for exception to the State Ethics Commission at 39 Columbia Street, Albany, New York 12207.

Even if you are or become exempt from the two-year bar, the lifetime bar of the revolving door statute will continue to apply to you. You may not appear, practice, communicate or otherwise render services before any State agency in relation to any case, proceeding, application or transaction with respect to which you were directly concerned and in which you personally participated during your State service, or which was under your active consideration.

If you have any questions about the application of the post-employment restrictions to your circumstances, you may contact the State Ethics Commission at (518) 432-8207 or 1-800-873-8442.

- ii. The provisions of subparagraph (i) of this paragraph shall not apply to any such officer or employee who at the time of or prior to such termination had served in a policy-making position as determined by the appointing authority, which determination had been filed with the state ethics commission, provided that such officer or employee may so appear or practice or receive such compensation with the prior approval of the state ethics commission. In determining whether to grant such approval the state ethics commission shall consider:
 - A. whether the employee's prior job duties involved substantial decision-making authority over policies, rule or contracts;
 - B. the nature of the duties to be performed by the employee for the prospective employer;
 - C. whether the prospective employment is likely to involve substantial contact with the employee's former agency and the extent to which any such contact is likely to involve matters where the agency has the discretion to make decisions based on the work product of the employee;
 - D. whether the prospective employment may be beneficial to the state or the public; and
 - E. the extent of economic hardship to the employee if the application is denied.

The provisions of paragraph (b) of this subdivision shall not apply to employees whose employment has been discontinued as a result of retirement or to employees who, prior to termination, have declined to exercise a right to another position with a state agency unless such position would require the employee to travel more than thirty-five miles in each direction to the new position or accept a reduction in base salary of more than ten per centum.
- d. Nothing contained in this subdivision shall prohibit any state agency from adopting rules concerning practice before it by former officers or employees more restrictive than the requirements of this subdivision.

carrying out official duties as an elected official or employee of a federal, state or local government or one of its agencies.

- f. Nothing in this subdivision shall be deemed to prevent a former state officer or employee who was employed on a temporary basis to perform routine clerical services, mail services, data entry services or other similar ministerial tasks, from subsequently being employed by a person, firm, corporation or association under contract to a state agency to perform such routine clerical services, mail services, data entry services or other similar ministerial tasks; provided however, this paragraph shall in no event apply to any such state officer or employee who was required to file an annual statement of financial disclosure pursuant to section seventy-three-a of this article.

The provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of subdivision eight of this section shall not apply to any such former state officer or employee engaged in any of the specific permitted activities defined in this subdivision that are related to any civil action or proceeding in any state or federal court, provided that the attorney general has certified in writing to the state ethics commission, with a copy to such former state officer or employee, that the services are rendered on behalf of the state, a state agency, state officer or employee, or other person or entity represented by the attorney general, and that such former state officer or employee has expertise, knowledge or experience which is unique or outstanding in a field or in a particular matter or which would otherwise be generally unavailable at a comparable cost to the state, a state agency, state officer or employee, or other person or entity represented by the attorney general in such civil action or proceeding. 11. Notwithstanding any provision of the judiciary law, the education law or any other law or disciplinary rule to the contrary:
 - a. Conduct authorized pursuant to subdivision eight of this section by a person who has served as a member of the legislature or as a legislative employee shall not constitute professional misconduct or grounds for disciplinary action of any kind;
 - b. No member of the legislature or former member of the legislature shall be prohibited from appearing, practicing, communicating or otherwise rendering services in relation to any matter before, or transacting business with, any state agency solely by reason of any vote or other action by such member or former member in respect to the confirmation or election of any member, commissioner, director or other person affiliated with such state agency, but nothing in this paragraph shall limit the prohibition contained in subdivision eight of this section;

made an appearance under the provisions of this section solely by the submission to a state agency or city agency of any printed material or document bearing his or her name, but unsigned by him or her, such as by limited illustrations the name of the firm, association or corporation or the letterhead of any stationery, which pro forma serves only as an indication that he or she is such a member associate, retired member, of counsel to, or shareholder.

14. In addition to any penalty contained in any other provision of law, any person who knowingly and intentionally violates the provisions of subdivisions two through five or subdivision seven, eight or twelve of this section shall be subject to a civil penalty in an amount not to exceed ten thousand dollars. Assessment of a civil penalty hereunder shall be made by the state ethics commission or the legislative ethics committee, as the case may be, with respect to persons subject to their respective jurisdictions. The state ethics commission acting pursuant to subdivision thirteen of section ninety-four of the executive law, or the legislative ethics committee acting pursuant to subdivision twelve of section eighty of the legislative law, as the case may be, may, in lieu of a civil penalty, with respect to a violation of subdivisions two through five or subdivision seven or eight of this section, refer a violation of any such subdivision to the appropriate prosecutor and upon such conviction, but only after such referral, such violation shall be punishable as a class A misdemeanor.

In order to promote the effective, complete and timely investigation of complaints of employment-related protected class discrimination, as of December 1, 2018, the Office of Employee Relations (OER) shall be responsible for conducting all investigations into employment-related discrimination complaints filed by employees, contractors, interns or other persons engaged in employment at Affected State Agencies as defined in Article III(a)(i) of this Order.

c. Such Affected State Agencies shall transfer the investigation function pursuant to Civil Service Law 70.2 to OER and continue to permit such employees as are assigned by OER to investigate complaints of protected class discrimination within their entity and shall cooperate fully with any and all investigations.

Grievance Procedures

Executive Order No. 42

Relating to Procedures for Submission and Settlement of Certain Grievances of State Employees

With the advent of collective negotiations between the State and employee organizations pursuant to the Public Employees' Fair Employment Act of 1967, collectively negotiated agreements ("collective agreements") have been entered into which provide for grievance procedures which are intended to supersede in whole or in part the grievance procedures provided for by the Executive Order heretofore issued on August 28, 1963. Such negotiated grievance procedures are a milestone in the development of collective negotiations in the public sector. Nevertheless, there is still an important reason for the continuation of procedures for the settlement of grievances of employees who are not covered by collective agreements or for the settlement of non-contract grievances which are outside of the scope of the grievance procedure set forth in any such collective agreement.

1. Eligibility

Every employee to whom this order applies shall have the right to present his grievance in accordance with this order, free from interference, coercion, restraint, discrimination or reprisal. He shall have the right to present his grievance individually or with a representative of his own choosing at all steps of the grievance procedure hereunder, except that where there is in effect a collective agreement covering a negotiation unit which includes such employee which was entered into between the State and an employee organization, then such employee may not choose as his representative any employee organization other than the employee organization with which such agreement was negotiated nor may any employee organization with which such agreement was negotiated initiate or process a grievance except to the extent permitted by such agreement.

2. Grievance Appeals Board

The Grievance Appeals Board established by the Executive Order heretofore issued on August 28, 1963 shall be transferred to the Office of Employee Relations. It shall consist of three members appointed by and who shall serve at the pleasure of the Director of Employee Relations. No person regularly employed in a full-time position in the State service shall be eligible for appointment to the Board. One member shall be designated by the Director to serve as chairman of the Board. The compensation of the members of the Board shall be fixed by the Director with the approval of the Director of the Budget.

3. Departmental Procedures

The head of each State department or agency shall, subject to the approval of the Grievance Appeals Board established pursuant to this order, establish formal procedures for the submission of grievances by employees and for the prompt and orderly consideration and determination of such grievances by supervisors and the department or agency head.

4. Powers and Duties of the Grievance Appeals Board

The Grievance Appeals Board is hereby charged with the responsibility for and empowered to:

- a. establish and maintain a program for resolving employee grievances relating to conditions of employment in the State service not inconsistent with the State's obligations as an employer under the Public Employees' Fair Employment Act of 1967 or collective agreements entered into thereunder.
- b. promulgate and amend from time to time, with the approval of the Director of Employee Relations, such regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this order and to review and approve grievance procedures established by departments and agencies pursuant to this order and such regulations, including provisions for reasonable time off without charge to leave credits for grievants, representatives and witnesses.
- c. hold hearings, to conduct investigations, to require the attendance of officers and employees of the State as witnesses and to require the production or examination of records, books and papers of State departments or agencies relating to administration of the grievance procedure.
- d. render advice and assistance to officers and employees of State departments and agencies in any matter relating to the establishment or use of the procedures provided for or adopted pursuant to this order or the regulations issued thereunder.
- e. report to the Director of Employee Relations for appropriate action the failure of any department or agency to establish properly or maintain satisfactorily the standards, principles, determinations and procedures embodied in or authorized by this order.

5. Appeals

An employee within a time limit and upon compliance with the regulations of the Board, may appeal to the Board from a determination made pursuant to this order by the head of his department or agency, or his designated representative, as the case may be. The Board shall conduct such review of the appeal as it deems appropriate and may require the appearance before it of the appellant and other parties to the grievance; provided, however, that the appellant shall be entitled upon his request to a hearing before the Board or its designee. If the appeal involves the enforcement of a law, a civil service rule or regulation or a written rule, regulation or order of a department or agency, the findings of fact and the recommendation of the Board shall be transmitted to the departments or agencies involved for appropriate action in accordance with the facts found by the Board. In all other cases, the determination of the Board shall contain a statement of the facts and an advisory recommendation to the departments or agencies involved. Copies of the determination of the Board shall be sent to the employee involved, to his representative and to the Director of Employee Relations.

6. Application

- a. The provisions of this order shall apply to employees in the executive branch of the State government (1) who are not covered by a collective agreement between the State and a certified or recognized employee organization or (2) who are covered by a collective agreement which accords such employees the right to continue to process grievances under this order.

- b. The provisions of this order and the procedures established hereunder shall be applicable to grievances in any department or agency claiming an act or omission resulting in an injustice to an employee and arising out of the conditions which are in whole or in part subject to the control of the head of such department or agency and which involve alleged safety or health hazards, unsatisfactory physical facilities, surroundings, materials or equipment, unfair or discriminatory supervisory and disciplinary practice, unjust treatment by fellow workers, unreasonable assignment of working hours or personal time allowances, unfair or unreasonable work quotas, and all other grievances relating to conditions of employment, provided, however, that this order shall not apply to matters which are reviewable under administrative procedures established by law or under the rules of the State Civil Service Commission, or the rules of other departments or agencies having the force and effect of law or rules governing grievances of employees in the professional service of the State University of New York as defined in Section 355-a of the Education Law, or grievances concerning the interpretation, application or claimed violation of a specific term or provision of a collective agreement between the State and an employee organization.

7. Repeal of Previous Order

The Executive Order heretofore issued on August 28, 1963 is hereby revoked and superseded by this executive order. Grievances initiated but not finally resolved prior to the effective date of this order may be continued under the terms of the executive order issued on August 28, 1963.

Section 560.2 Grievances: Procedural Requirements

The head of each State department or agency shall establish formal procedures for submission of grievances by employees or their representatives (subject to the provisions of section 1 of the executive order) and for prompt and orderly consideration and determination of such grievances by supervisors and the department or agency head, subject to the approval of the grievance appeals board. Procedures for such department or agency shall include provision for no more than three procedural steps as follows:

- a.
 - 1. Step 1: The employee, or his representative, shall present the grievance orally or in writing on forms to be provided by the State to the employee's immediate supervisor or to the department or agency representative at the appropriate local level, not later than 45 calendar days after the date on which the act or omission giving rise to the grievance occurred. The department or agency representative may require the grievant to meet with the grievant's immediate supervisor in an effort to settle the grievance informally. The person receiving the grievance shall take any other steps necessary to ensure that a proper disposition of the grievance is made and shall reply to the employee or his representative orally or in writing on forms to be provided by the State, within five working days following the date of submission.
 - 2. Step 2: In the event the employee or his representative wishes to appeal an unsatisfactory decision at step 1, the appeal must be presented in writing, on forms to be provided by the State, within 15 working days of the receipt of the step 1 decision, to the person designated by the department or agency head for such purpose. A copy of such appeal shall also be sent to the person who passed upon the grievance at step 1. Such appeal shall contain a short, plain statement of the grievance. The person designated to process the appeal at step 2 shall meet with the employee and/or his representative within 20 working days after receipt of the appeal for a review of the grievance and shall issue a written decision to the employee or his representative by the end of the fifteenth working day following the day on which the review was held.

3. Step 3: An appeal from an unsatisfactory decision at step 2 shall be presented by the employee or his representative in writing, on forms to be provided by the State, to the department or agency head or his designated representative within 15 working days of the receipt of the step 2 decision.  4. Step 4: An appeal from an unsatisfactory decision at step 3 shall be presented in writing by the employee or his representative within 15 working days of receipt of the step 3 decision to the grievance appeals board. The grievant shall also furnish a copy to the department or agency head. The chairman of the grievance appeals board or his designee within 20 working days of receipt of a request for an appeal of the step 3 decision shall schedule a step 4 review and shall issue a decision in writing to the employee and to his representative within 20 working days after the day on which the review was held or the date the hearing was closed. The appeal to the grievance appeals board shall contain a copy of the decisions at steps 1, 2, and 3, together with all documents which the grievant relies upon in the appeal.
- b. Departmental or agency procedures shall provide that the grievance forms provided by the State shall be readily available to all employees. The locations where these forms are available shall be specifically identified.
 - c. The time limits contained in this section may be extended for a specific grievance by consent of the grievant or his representative and the department or agency. Departments and agencies are authorized, subject to approval by the grievance appeals board, to combine steps 2 and 3 or to vary the time limits in steps 1, 2 and 3 of the grievance steps. The time for presenting a step 1 grievance shall be extended by the time an employee is absent from the job through illness or disability, provided such illness or disability extends for at least 10 calendar days.
 - d. A settlement or award recommended by the Board may or may not be retroactive as the equities of each case demand, but in no event shall such a resolution be retroactive to a date earlier than 45 days prior to the date the grievance was first presented in accordance with these regulations and the executive order or the date the grievance occurred, whichever is the later date.

- e. Failure of the department or agency representative to answer a grievance within the time limit prescribed in any step of the grievance procedure shall permit the employee or his representative to progress the grievance to the next step for decision.
- f. Any grievance not appealed by the employee or his representative to the next step of the grievance procedure within the time limit prescribed shall be considered settled on the basis of the last decision and is not subject to further appeal or consideration.
- g. Employee information. Each department or agency head shall take such steps as may be necessary to ensure that all employees and supervisors under his jurisdiction may be fully informed of the grievance procedures adopted pursuant to the executive order and of their rights and obligations thereunder.
- h. The grievance appeals board shall publish and distribute copies of the executive order, its regulations and other pertinent information to the end that employees shall be informed of their rights under the executive order.

Section 560.3 General Provisions

- a.
 - 1. The employee shall identify his representative, if any, to the appropriate State official(s) at all steps, giving name, address and official designation, or if also an employee, his title, official working station and department.
 - 2. A representative who is also a State employee shall notify his supervisor immediately upon learning of his designation, stating the name of the aggrieved and the time and place of the grievance review or discussion.
- b. The time and place for the discussion or hearing of grievances within an agency shall, so far as practicable, be mutually agreeable to the appropriate parties, except that in certain restricted employment areas, as in a State hospital or prison, the agency head shall designate the time and place of presentation.
- c. Questions concerning the applicability of the executive order to a particular complaint shall be referred directly to the director of employee relations for determination. A record of all such determinations shall be kept on file in the Office of Employee Relations.
- d. An investigation or inquiry required or authorized to be conducted or made, may be conducted or made by any designee or the grievance appeals board.
- e. An employee's right to process a grievance shall not be lost to him solely because he has left the department or agency wherein it arose or because he has left the State service, provided such right had fully accrued prior to his separation from the department or agency of its origin and provided further that he could otherwise have prosecuted such grievance but for such separation and provided, further, that he presents his grievance not later than 45 calendar days after the date on which the act or omission giving rise to the grievance occurred.

- f. Terminations of the services of probationers pursuant to the Civil Service Law are not reviewable by the grievance appeals board except where the petitioner presents prima facie proof to the board that the decision of the appointing officer may have been arbitrary or capricious. In such cases, the board may:
 - 1. authorize the processing of the grievance through the agency procedure;
 - 2. assume original jurisdiction in resolving the grievance.

Section 560.4 Time Off for Processing of Grievances

- a. An employee and his representative, if an employee, shall be allowed such time off from his regular duties as may be necessary and reasonable for the processing of a grievance under the procedures adopted pursuant to the executive order without loss of pay or vacation or other time credits.
- b. Time shall be granted for the presentation of the grievance at any step or to the grievance appeals board. It shall not include time for preparation of the presentation of a grievance, but shall include reasonable time for discussion between the employee and his representative immediately prior to the designated presentation and such reasonable travel time as may be necessary. An employee shall be permitted to discuss with his representative prior to the initiation of a first-step proceeding any complaint or matter concerning conditions set forth in section 6(b) of the executive order, for the purpose of aiding him in deciding whether he wishes to process the grievance through the agency procedure. If such discussion is to take place during the regular work hours of an employee, whether grievant or his representative, he shall first obtain from his supervisor permission to absent himself from his work and shall advise his supervisor of the name of the grievant or his representative, as the case may be.
- c. If any step must be scheduled outside regular working hours or continues beyond regular working hours, the additional time shall not be considered in computing earned overtime nor shall compensatory time off be granted. Insofar as practicable, agencies may reschedule the employee's and/or his representative's working hours to coincide with discussion or meetings scheduled outside regular working hours.

Section 560.5 Construction

Nothing contained in these regulations shall be construed to limit the executive order.

Alcohol and Controlled Substances in the Workplace

Office of Employee Relations' policy memorandum, "Policy on Alcohol and Controlled Substances in the Workplace and Information on the Federal Drug-Free Workplace Act,"

This Office has received inquiries recently from agencies regarding the State's Policy on Alcohol and Controlled Substances in the Workplace, the Federal Drug-Free Workplace Act of 1988 and the Federal Omnibus Transportation Act of 1991. As a result, I am reissuing the original policy memorandum of 1986 on alcohol and controlled substances, last issued in 1994 (OER-94-1), and providing you with information on the Federal Acts. I have also attached a flyer that can be distributed as a means to continue compliance with the requirements of the Federal Drug-Free Workplace Act.

Policy on Alcohol and Controlled Substances in the Workplace

Use and abuse of alcohol and drugs has a detrimental effect on the productivity, attendance, and health of our work force. As a public employer, we must be vigilant to protect the safety and welfare of the public with whom we interact and the employees with whom we work.

The longstanding policy of the State is and has been that employees will be subject to criminal, civil and disciplinary penalties if they distribute, sell, attempt to sell, possess or purchase controlled substances while at the workplace or while performing in a work-related capacity. Such illegal acts, even if engaged in off duty, may result in disciplinary action. In those work locations where it is permitted, an employee may possess and use a controlled substance which is properly prescribed for him or her by a physician.

It has also been the continuing policy of the State that employees are prohibited from on-the-job use of, or impairment from, alcohol or controlled substances. In cases where an appointing authority or a designee has a reasonable suspicion that an employee is not able to perform his or her duties as a result of a disability which may be caused by alcohol or a controlled substance, the appointing authority may proceed under the provisions of Section 72 of the Civil Service Law and require that the employee undergo a medical examination to ascertain the cause of the disability. Where testing for alcohol or a controlled substance occurs, appropriate medical procedures and tests should be utilized to assure accurate and proper results. Confidentiality of the testing process and results is an important aspect of this procedure for any affected employee.

A "reasonable suspicion" must be based upon specific, reliable observation that the appointing authority or designee can articulate concerning the appearance, behavior, speech or body odor of the employee. The following observations may indicate drug or alcohol use: unsteady gait, odor of alcohol on the breath, thick or slurring speech, aggressive or abusive language or behavior, and disorientation or lethargy.

It is also not unreasonable for the appointing authority to consider the employee's time and attendance patterns, such as absences around weekends, pass days or payday, excessive use of sick leave, excessive lateness and unauthorized absences, on-the-job accidents, difficulty in recalling instructions or conversation, poor relationships with co-workers and supervisors, and other variations in productivity when making a determination as to whether a "reasonable suspicion" that an employee is suffering from a drug- or alcohol-related disability is present.

Such medical examinations may be required under the safeguards of Section 72 of the Civil Service Law for employees who are permanently appointed competitive employees or employees subject to due process before termination. Other State employees who are not entitled to any due process protection before being terminated or placed on involuntary leave may also be required to undergo such a medical examination, if appropriate under the circumstances.

Once a determination is made that an employee is using, is under the influence of, or is not able to perform his or her duties due to alcohol or a controlled substance, the appointing authority may determine the appropriate action to take. When considering the appropriate action to take, the appointing authority may determine that the affected employee should be disciplined because of the alcohol or drug use. Disciplinary action may be taken pursuant to the procedures contained in the collectively negotiated agreement or the law, as appropriate and required.

On the other hand, the appointing authority may determine that, given the nature of the job and the employee involved, the employee could benefit from the Employee Assistance Program (EAP). In such a case, the employee should be directed to the appropriate EAP coordinator to assist him or her with whatever problem exists. The Employee Assistance Program is a referral service set up at individual work sites and available to every employee. Should the employee have a drug or alcohol-related problem, EAP would provide the employee with a list of places which treat such conditions.

Where an employee is disabled by alcohol or drug use, the appointing authority may also decide to pursue the available disability leave procedures contained in Section 72 of the Civil Service Law. While employee union representation or concurrence is not required when pursuing Section 72 action, it is suggested that appropriate employee representatives be alerted as to the action contemplated.

An agency which has existing additional policies, procedures or practices which apply to its employees may continue to implement those policies, procedures and practices. The agency involved should notify its OER liaison of them. If an agency believes that a pre-employment or pre-appointment drug test should be utilized, that agency should consult with the Department of Civil Service to determine the job relatedness of such a test or to seek that Department's approval to include it in the required pre-employment or pre-appointment physical.

Federal Drug Free Workplace Act of 1988

The Federal Drug-Free Workplace Act of 1988 included the following requirements for employers receiving federal grants or contracts of over $25,000:

- publish an anti-drug policy statement and provide it to employees
- establish a drug awareness program
- establish as a term and condition of employment that employees report within five days, any criminal convictions for drug-related activity in the workplace
- notify the awarding federal agency of employee convictions
- take personnel actions against workplace substance abuse
- make a good faith effort to comply with the Federal Drug-Free Workplace Act.

As I indicated earlier, attached is a flyer which can be copied and distributed to staff as a means to continue compliance with the requirements of the Act. The flyer includes a message from Governor Pataki as well as information on the State's policy, the Employee Assistance Program and toll-free numbers at which employees can obtain additional information about drugs and alcohol.

I encourage you to continue to use the Drug-Free Workplace training program to prepare supervisors to identify and address alcohol and drug problems. This three-hour program was initially developed in 1990 and agency trainers were prepared to deliver it. The program has been extremely well-received and was recently updated.

In addition, it should be noted that agencies impacted by the Federal Omnibus Transportation Employee Testing Act of 1991 must have their own policies, testing protocols in place, and employees trained as to the provisions of the Act. The Act mandates pre-employment, reasonable suspicion, random and post-accident drug and alcohol testing for employees required to maintain a Commercial Driver's License for their job and who drive vehicles carrying 16 passengers (including the driver) or vehicles weighing in excess of 26,001 pounds. Should you have any questions, please contact your agency liaison in the Office of Employee Relations.

New York State Policy

New York State prohibits on-the-job use of, or impairment from, alcohol and controlled substances. An employee may be required to undergo medical testing if a supervisor has a reasonable suspicion that he or she is unable to perform job duties due to a disability which may be caused by the use of alcohol.

If the cause of the disability is found to be drug or alcohol related, the personnel or employee relations officer, in conjunction with the employee's supervisor, may refer the employee to voluntary and confidential participation in the statewide Employee Assistance Program. Other available options include pursuing disability leave procedures or disciplinary measures.

Violations of the State policy on alcohol and substance abuse in the workplace may be the subject of disciplinary action pursuant to Section 75 of the Civil Service Law or the Disciplinary Articles of collectively negotiated agreements.

State employees are also subject to criminal, civil, and disciplinary penalties for the distribution, possession, sale, or the attempt to sell controlled substances both in the workplace and while performing in a work-related capacity. In work locations where it is permitted, an employee may possess and use medication which is properly prescribed by a physician.

"Controlled substances" refers to the hundreds of chemicals listed in the Controlled Substances Act by the federal government. All so-called "street drugs" (heroin, cocaine, crack, marijuana, speed, acid) are controlled substances.

A person using a prescribed drug under a doctor's supervision is not breaking any law. The use of prescribed drugs without a physician's prescription is illegal.

Addiction to, or misuse of, prescribed drugs could also subject an employee to medical testing under New York State's policy governing alcohol or substance abuse in the workplace.

Employee Assistance Program (EAP)

The New York State Employee Assistance Program is a joint labor-management committee program open to all State employees and their families. The program is a confidential information, assessment and referral program that provides employee requested services. These services include:

- Assessment for referral to the most appropriate community resource provider for services related to emotional or physical illnesses, alcohol and other drug-related problems;
- Assistance with family-related problems;
- Advocacy, assistance and intervention with health insurance;
- Information on resources for issues such as child care, eldercare, legal, and financial support services;
- Workplace health and prevention programs;
- Workplace educational preventive, wellness programs.

Any State employee may contact NYS EAP by calling 1-800-822-0244.

Paid Family Leave

Benefits -- Time

Paid Family Leave benefits phase in over four years. Eligible employees can take Paid Family Leave for up to eight weeks in 2018, with coverage increasing to 10 weeks in 2019 and 2020, and 12 weeks in 2021. Leave can be taken either all at once or in full-day increments. You may take the maximum time-off benefit in any given 52-week period. You cannot take Paid Family Leave in partial day increments. You cannot charge accruals on a day when you take Paid Family Leave.

Benefits -- Pay

Paid Family Leave pay benefits also phase in over four years. Benefits are a percentage of your average weekly wage, capped at that same percentage of the New York State Average Weekly Wage, as calculated annually by New York State's Department of Labor. These benefits are 50% of your average weekly wage for 2018, 55% in 2019, 60% in 2020, and 67% in 2021.

Funding

Paid Family Leave is funded through a small weekly payroll deduction, which is a percentage of your weekly wage up to a cap set annually.

The 2018 payroll contribution is 0.126% of your weekly wage and is capped at an annual maximum of $85.56. If you earn less than the New York State Average Weekly Wage ($1,305.92 per week), you will have an annual contribution amount less than the cap of $85.56, consistent with your actual weekly wages.

For example, in 2018, if you earn $27,000 a year ($519 a week), you will pay 65 cents per week.

To estimate your deduction, use the payroll deduction calculator at <https://paidfamilyleave.ny.gov/paid-family-leave-calculator2019>.

Your Rights and Protections

- You have job protection, ensuring you can return to the same job (or a comparable one) when you return from Paid Family Leave.
- You can keep your health insurance while on leave. If you contribute to the cost of your health insurance, you must continue to pay your portion of the cost while on leave.
- Your employer is prohibited from discriminating or retaliating against you for requesting or taking Paid Family Leave.

- You do not have to take all of your sick and/or vacation time before using Paid Family Leave.

For information on applying for and taking Paid Family Leave, please go to <https://www.cs.ny.gov/pfl/> and refer to the Apply for Paid Family Benefits section. Request forms, the request submission process, and additional information on the Paid Family Leave benefits such as the Department of Civil Service policy bulletin on Paid Family Leave can be found on that website as well.

Discrimination Complaints

Employees are protected from discrimination and retaliation for requesting or taking Paid Family Leave.

If your employer terminates your employment, reduces your pay and/or benefits, or disciplines you in any way as a result of you requesting or taking Paid Family Leave, send your agency's personnel office a formal request for job reinstatement using the Formal Request For Reinstatement Regarding Paid Family Leave (Form PFL-DC-119), which can be found in the forms section of www.ny.gov/PaidFamilyLeave.

Also, send a copy to:

Paid Family Leave, P O Box 9030, Endicott, NY 13761-9030

If your employer fails to comply with the request for reinstatement within 30 days, you have the right to a hearing with the Workers' Compensation Board using the Paid Family Leave Discrimination/Retaliation Complaint (Form PFL-DC-120), which is also available on the Paid Family Leave website. Once your complaint is received, the Board will assemble your case and reach out to you to schedule a hearing within 45 calendar days. NOTE: To file a complaint, you must have first requested reinstatement as described above.

An administrative law judge may order an employer to reinstate you, pay any lost wages, pay attorney's fees, and pay up to $500 in penalties.

In addition to protections under Workers' Compensation Law, in certain situations an employee may have claims under the New York Human Rights Law. The New York Human Rights law makes it illegal for employers to discriminate against employees based on certain protected grounds, including but not limited to, sexual orientation, sex, age, marital status, pregnancy-related conditions, or familial status. For more information, please visit the Division of Human Rights website at: <https://dhr.ny.gov/complaint#howto>.
